Crystal Dreaming How it works

The laying on of stones is an ancient Healing Art practised by the Mayans, Ancient Egyptians and Native Americans.

New Age philosophy acknowledges the truth of the inter-connectedness of all things, the reality of the Spirit world and the existence of beings in other realities. It perceives the illusion of linear time and space and the truth of our infinite beings.

Crystal quartz is silicon dioxide, the most common mineral compound on Earth and in our body, hence the affinity or resonance between our own molecular structure and crystals. When crystals are placed on the body the healing process is stimulated from within.

By placing crystals around the crown creating a particular pattern or mandala, it is possible to focus Divine Energy, triggering an opening of the pineal gland and the shift in consciousness of your client into an “altered state.” After clearing negative energy, self diagnosis and healing, it is possible for your client to experience a profound state of oneness and bliss which can be life changing.

These advanced techniques enable you to guide your client to a fully conscious reconnection with the Superconscious or never ending now in which our higher selves exist in a state of constant bliss. You may facilitate recollection of ancient past life abilities, clear Karma, open clairvoyance, clairesentience and clairaudience and other abilities as a practitioner during your sessions.

Crystal Dreaming will bring clarity of purpose to your client by activating their Divine mission, blueprint or life plan. Crystal Dreaming frequently leads to a full embodiment of past life skills and a blissful reconnection with the Divine. You will learn how to achieve this in one session.

Crystal Dreaming Facilitating an altered state

Using a sacred mandala of crystals placed around the crown, I will teach you how to facilitate a profound journey into oneness and bliss for others, where emotional, physical and spiritual healing may occur, instantly.

You will learn how to release all blocks en route to this state, including the release of; cellular memory, emotional blockages, past or present life trauma, negative energy, entities, earthbound spirits and interference from any other source.

After releasing these blockages, your client may meet their higher self, spirit guides, spiritual teachers, Ascended Masters, Angels and other highly evolved beings of light.

These techniques open all channels to the Spirit world and beyond, facilitating interdimensional travel anywhere in time and space, whilst remaining conscious in this reality.

I will give you a clear understanding of the Spirit World, a realm that is often misunderstood and in contemporary Western culture rarely explained thoroughly and clearly. We will look at the area that you will be exploring with your clients and the energies and beings you are likely to encounter there, including interdimensionals and extraterrestrials.

You will be working from my book “Alchemy of Crystals” a copy of which is included in the course fee.

You will give and receive a Crystal Dreaming session during this course, which presumes an excellent knowledge of crystals and their properties. Our one day Crystal Awareness course is a prerequisite for this two day practitioner training. On completion of this course you will be ready, after further practice and after you have acquired your own crystals, to facilitate sessions for others.
